

Produce Safety Immersion Program

Mentor Expectations and Responsibilities

The purpose of the Produce Safety Immersion Program is to help further develop newer produce safety professionals. We seek three-four industry leaders who are willing to serve as mentors for the third ten-fifteen person cohort. This document lays out the expectations of mentors. Questions can be directed to Katie McGowan at kmcgowan@unitedfresh.org

1. What is the time commitment?
 - a. Mentors should expect to spend roughly 3 weeks, divided over the course of a year, supporting the participants in this program
 - b. Mentors will travel to an in-person meeting in early 2022. This trip will include site visits and a welcome reception. Mentors will also accompany participants to an in-person meeting in the fall of 2022 to present their final projects.
 - c. Mentors should plan to join the supplemental webinars and optional networking sessions with participants and industry experts, with an average of two virtual events per month.
 - d. Additionally, mentors should plan to set aside 3 hours per month to speak with and coach participants. Mentors should strive to remain generally available to field produce safety inquiries from participants.
2. Do I need to participate in all activities?
 - a. Mentors are encouraged to participate in all activities; dates of critical events will be communicated as the program launches. Optional enrichment opportunities will also be available to participants, and we hope mentors will support them.
3. What does “participate” mean?
 - a. In addition to working closely with a subset of participants, mentors will be expected to:
 - i. Serve as an instructor during a webinar or serve as an instructor during an experience
 - ii. Demonstrate a “journal club” style critique of a publication, evaluation of a regulation, critique of a new technology, or comparable way in which critical thinking skills are demonstrated
 - iii. Provide formal, constructive feedback to participants when they present their group “journal club” or research report and their final presentations
4. What is the fee?
 - a. There is no fee for mentors to participate. Mentors will receive complimentary registrations for the Washington Conference and the annual meeting in the fall. Additionally, the program will cover hotel and meals during the meetings. Mentors will be responsible for their own transportation and related travel expenses.
5. Will specific participants be assigned to me?
 - a. Yes, we will pair you with 3-4 program participants for their first group presentation, and 3-4 different participants for their final presentations. We hope you will network with all participants.
6. How long is the term?

Produce Safety Immersion Program

- a. The official term is approximately one year, beginning in January 2022. The hope is that the connections that are made through the program are long lasting.
- 7. Must mentors be located in the US?
 - a. No, mentors do not have to reside in the United States, however the program is delivered in English, and virtual sessions are generally held between 11 am – 6 pm Eastern (New York) time.
- 8. Is there a term limit?
 - a. No. With each new group of cohorts, a new group of mentors will be solicited. Previous mentors are welcome to re-apply
